

The Forrest City Times.

ESTABLISHED 1871.

VOL. XVII.

FEAR GOD, TELL THE TRUTH, AND MAKE MONEY.

FORREST CITY, ARKANSAS, SATURDAY MORNING, JUNE 9, 1888.

LANDVOIGT & VADAKIN.

No. 84.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

FOR PROSECUTING ATTORNEY.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—I am a candidate for re-election to the office of Prosecuting Attorney for the First Judicial Circuit, subject to the action of the democratic nominating convention. Attention to the duties of the office will necessarily prevent me from meeting many of you prior to the time of your township convention, but assuring you of my appreciation of your former support and promising, if re-elected, a faithful and impartial discharge of the duties of the office, I am,
Very respectfully,
S. BRUNDIDGE, JR.

For Treasurer.

We are authorized to announce Mr. A. C. Wood as a candidate for re-election to the office of Treasurer of St. Francis county, subject to the action of the democratic party.

For Assessor.

We are authorized to announce Mr. P. A. McCullars as a candidate for re-election to the office of Assessor of St. Francis county, subject to the action of the democratic party.

National Democratic Ticket.

For President,
GROVER CLEVELAND,
of New York.

For Vice-President,
ALLAN G. THURMAN,
of Ohio.

For President Electors,
State-at-Large,
W. M. FISHBACK,
of Sebastian.
W. E. HEMMENWAY,
of Jefferson.

First District,
P. D. McCULLOCH,
of Lee.

State Democratic Ticket.

For Governor,
JAMES P. EAGLE,
of Lonoke.

For Secretary of State,
B. B. CHISM,
of Logan.

For Auditor,
W. S. DUNLOP,
of Monroe.

For Treasurer,
WM. E. WOODRUFF,
of Pulaski.

For Chief Justice,
STERLING R. COCKRILL,
of Pulaski.

For Attorney General,
WM. E. ATKINSON,
of Nevada.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction,
WOOD E. THOMPSON,
of Drew.

For Land Commissioner,
PAUL M. COBBS,
of St. Francis.

The evidence of certain defeat has at last made Mr. Blaine reluctantly come down. If we "hadn't seen it we would not have believed it."

GERMANY is now getting a little taste of strikes, and the strikers sing the "Marseilles Hymn" during their demonstrations. This makes the average German policeman mad.

THE republicans of Tennessee are in favor of W. R. Moore, of Memphis, for second place on their national ticket. Could not find a better man, we think.

THE bridge at Memphis has met another obstacle in its way. The river "clique" are putting barrels of money in its way as stumbling blocks.

TRINITY church, New York, was fined $1,000 for importing a minister from England. Rather an extraordinary proceeding, but the law is here and it seems to us that the church ought to be the "willingest" of all violators of law to pay the penalty.

THE New Orleans States says that with the aid of the shovel and broom, the good people of that city have determined to make that city what nature intended it to be "A mecca of health and social attractiveness."

THE corner stone of the great Catholic University at Washington City was laid last week with great pomp and ceremony. This building is intended to eclipse all efforts of modern architecture.

THE Missouri Republican, which has recently changed its name to the more appropriate one of St. Louis Republic, will lose nothing by the change. It is a thorough newspaper and we rejoice to note its success.

SEVENTEEN thousand merchants signed a petition to hold a mass meeting in New York to endorse Mayor Hewitt's action in allowing none but American flags to float above public buildings. Mayor Hewitt is right, and you can set us down as opposed to the floating of the rampant lion and double clawed buzzard in any part of this country.

From at one time being a power in democratic politics, the New York Sun has descended to the level of a puerile "ward" paper, hardly fit to be handled, much less read, by decent democrats. It is remarkably strange that poor old Mr. Dana can't see that his days of usefulness are gone. However, it is a hard lesson to learn, and the editor of the Sun has plenty of company in his determination not to learn it.

It is claimed, and we presume it is true, that New York's electoral vote has not, for the past twenty-four years, been cast for the same party twice in succession. This is put forth as a kind of consolation to the other side, of course. But a heartless democratic exchange stands up and says that records don't amount to anything where Cleveland comes along.

As a specimen of oratory the Rev. Sam Steel's speech before the Northern Methodist church was all that could have been expected from Munsey. But Sam said more than was necessary. From his language we don't think Sam is as familiar with the causes that brought about the separation of the churches as he ought to be. We take much of his speech as cringing, however beautiful the language used.

Heretofore we have been under the impression that Philadelphia was somewhat of a religious town. The startling announcement now comes that forty thousand of her citizens recently attended a Sunday base-ball game. St. Louis has been considered a sinner city, but she recently closed her saloons, for at least one Sunday. Puritanism seems to be swapping localities during these approaching summer days. It's a fact, brethren, and we are pinning for an explanation.

Now a man named Dana wants his pay for assisting in the capture of J. Wilkes Booth. In cleaning the gutters in New Orleans, a man found a silver spoon which had evidently lain there since 1865. Now if the government pay is brought by Gen. Butler for his long lost property. The man who found the spoon should have kept his mouth shut. A fool's tongue will always give him away, however.

ONE half-prominent republican paper says that the democrats will nominate Cleveland because he is the strongest man they have, except Jeff Davis. Such talk as this will only make the people love Jeff all the more. What is termed the collar of the S. S. was never more willingly worn by any people on earth than those of the south. It is a emblem of lasting brotherhood—an emblem of long and true south—then blood courses the veins of true southern men. Jeff is safely escorted in the hearts of his countrymen, and the venom thrown by his enemies can't bring him out.

An eastern paper wants to know why a bottle catnip, when it explodes, will sprinkle everything on the table except the meat. We don't know—fact is, most of the catsup made these days don't have enough "life in it" to bust. We don't like to bother our head with these conundrums, anyway, and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

We read dispatches almost daily giving the condition of Jay Gould's stomach. It is a tiresome business and we hope the press will stop saying anything about Gould's stomach, or liver either, as we don't care a continental whether either one of these organs are in their normal or abnormal condition.

"The Emperor Frederick has issued an imperial royal decree ordering that in future the Russian military order of St. George and the Austrian order of Theresa are to be worn by the German knight of either order before any Prussian civil orders or medals. It is presumed that the Czar will acknowledge this courtesy by reviving his recent ukase, which commanded that all Russian orders and medals should rank above any foreign decorations whatsoever."

We have been sorely troubled about this little matter for some time, and we breathe a very large sized sigh of relief. We do, indeed.

A lot of poor, deluded negroes have recently sailed from Florida for Liberia. They will find out when too late that it is a much easier matter to go to that delectable locality than it is to return. The parties who are inducing the negroes to go there remind us of the Yankee soldier, who, just after the war, gave a darkey a "certificate" for his forty-acres-and-a-mule, charging him $4 25 therefor. The "certificate" read thus: "This is to certify that I have swindled this d—d fool nigger out of $4 25." It is precisely the same programme, with a worse finale.

Farmers should learn to submit their occupation to the same rules that govern all successful commercial matters. The merchant keeps books—so should the farmer. Every item of outlay and expense should be recorded and a correct balance shown when the harvest is gathered. The farmer is king over all the productive resources of the nation. Out of the soil springs the life-giving power and impetus which gives vigor and value to all great enterprises in other fields. The soil is the true source—the ground work and the fountain-head of wealth. The soil is the mother of all progress, and its culture the noblest of all work. It is one of the great misfortunes of the South that our people are not educated to the point of a prudent and systematic development of our almost limitless resources. We farm at random—we work for the day and the hour, in place of applying the highest principles of business to the best and most independent of all trades. It is pleasant to note the marked improvement developed in the last few years. To the close observer of the changing events the signs of progress and improvement are encouraging. But we have yet very much to learn. We do not fully comprehend and grasp the full value of the resources at our command. A true independence through the avowed labor comes often very slowly, but the "laborer is worthy of his hire," and the end is sure if the means be used in judgment. There are numbers of men living in Arkansas today in vigorous health, who can recall the time when the State was a comparative wilderness, and gave but little outward promise of her exalted position today. The State is the just pride of her citizens, and her products the surprise and admiration of all who become familiar with her resources. She has scarcely taken the primal steps to grasp the possible future wealth that lies in easy reach. Our lands are the richest and most productive in variety of growth, in the world. Our lands are wealth—our soil is progress—and judicious, systematic and industrious development is the secret power that will keep in motion the steady growth to future greatness. Let the farmer learn to keep books, as a beginning.

THE rambling, incoherent statements, of Mr. Hicks, published in last Saturday's issue of THE TIMES, styled by the writer "An Analysis," is in substance nothing more or less than a letter of criticism and abuse, clothed in the most highly embellished and ambiguous language, and with the exception of a few sarcastic and unsuccessful attempts at witicism, scarcely touches at all the subject under discussion.

Mr. Hicks criticizes, with the strictest rigidity, the orthography, phraseology, and punctuation of what he has chosen to call "The ignorant twaddle" of one James L. Scott. As to the atrocious crime of being ignorant, I plead guilty; but feel far from being as ignorant as probably Mr. Hicks deemed me, when trying to obtain of me a drug to be used for a purpose that can well be imagined. Finding himself surrounded by the most overwhelming and damning evidence of his guilty intentions, he then gushes forth with a tirade of unmerited abuse such as would bring a blush of shame to the foulest fiend, the most reeking, degraded specimen of depravity, ever consigned to the deepest pit of the infernal regions. And this he calls vindication.

Mr. Hicks' assertion that it was through fear of the "civil law" and not due to a feeling of compassion that caused me to make any explanation, is another of those falsehoods, which he seems so capable of concocting. When threatened with legal proceedings he has taken any legal proceedings he might choose; changing his tactics, he appealed to me in the name of an unswayed honor; hence my explanation of May 1st. The various reasons given by Mr. Hicks for failing to produce a prescription at the time of calling for Cantharides, are too numerous and insubstantial to be readily believed; and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

THE rambling, incoherent statements, of Mr. Hicks, published in last Saturday's issue of THE TIMES, styled by the writer "An Analysis," is in substance nothing more or less than a letter of criticism and abuse, clothed in the most highly embellished and ambiguous language, and with the exception of a few sarcastic and unsuccessful attempts at witicism, scarcely touches at all the subject under discussion.

Mr. Hicks criticizes, with the strictest rigidity, the orthography, phraseology, and punctuation of what he has chosen to call "The ignorant twaddle" of one James L. Scott. As to the atrocious crime of being ignorant, I plead guilty; but feel far from being as ignorant as probably Mr. Hicks deemed me, when trying to obtain of me a drug to be used for a purpose that can well be imagined. Finding himself surrounded by the most overwhelming and damning evidence of his guilty intentions, he then gushes forth with a tirade of unmerited abuse such as would bring a blush of shame to the foulest fiend, the most reeking, degraded specimen of depravity, ever consigned to the deepest pit of the infernal regions. And this he calls vindication.

Mr. Hicks' assertion that it was through fear of the "civil law" and not due to a feeling of compassion that caused me to make any explanation, is another of those falsehoods, which he seems so capable of concocting. When threatened with legal proceedings he has taken any legal proceedings he might choose; changing his tactics, he appealed to me in the name of an unswayed honor; hence my explanation of May 1st. The various reasons given by Mr. Hicks for failing to produce a prescription at the time of calling for Cantharides, are too numerous and insubstantial to be readily believed; and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

AN eastern paper wants to know why a bottle catnip, when it explodes, will sprinkle everything on the table except the meat. We don't know—fact is, most of the catsup made these days don't have enough "life in it" to bust. We don't like to bother our head with these conundrums, anyway, and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

AN eastern paper wants to know why a bottle catnip, when it explodes, will sprinkle everything on the table except the meat. We don't know—fact is, most of the catsup made these days don't have enough "life in it" to bust. We don't like to bother our head with these conundrums, anyway, and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

AN eastern paper wants to know why a bottle catnip, when it explodes, will sprinkle everything on the table except the meat. We don't know—fact is, most of the catsup made these days don't have enough "life in it" to bust. We don't like to bother our head with these conundrums, anyway, and we wish the press would cease to publish them. A democratic President is likely to be laboring now to elect, and what we are laboring we expect to score early in November on our credit in the big white mark to take the office, a line, and will receive, if it is offered, a dark at the time of calling for the drug and having so strong an aversion to putting people to unnecessary trouble.

merely wished to know if I had the requisite drugs, and would not put one to the inconvenience of lighting a lamp to read a prescription. Next he contradicts this statement and says, "Scott fails to understand why I did not procure a prescription from Dr. Beauchamp before leaving Forrest City," and further states that the Medicine was entirely forgotten until he had gone some distance from town. Now it scarcely seems possible that any one afflicted with so loathsome and tormenting a disease as the itch (such Mr. Hicks claims to be his annoying ailment) could be so totally oblivious to the highly irritating sensation usually accompanying this cutaneous disease, as not to be most forcibly reminded of the immediate necessity of his healing balm, to the use of which he has so long been addicted.

To the people of Poplar Grove, as can be easily proven, he explains that he presented his prescription at Hinton's drug store, but could not get it filled from the fact that the last bottle of Cantharides had previously been drained of its contents. When Dr. Beauchamp prescribed Cantharides for Mr. Hicks it was Cantharides in a compound and not Cantharides alone.

Granting myself the same privilege Mr. Hicks has taken, and speaking from a philosophical standpoint, one would naturally infer that a certain organ were as largely developed on the anatomy of Mr. Hicks that it should cause him to resort to the use of Cantharides to accomplish his hellish designs, since it has become so evident as to his intentions.

In regard to the ridiculous comparison made by Mr. Hicks of being infested with vermin, it is hardly necessary to say there exists a vast difference in "having a superabundance of rats" and in having intrusted to the care of an unscrupulous villain, the pure and innocent daughters of one's bosom friends.

Let Mr. Hicks and the public at large, fully understand that whatever it may be the consequence of this controversy, into which I have been so reluctantly drawn is due to his virulence, freak of envy, or malignant intentions on my part, for with me it has been compulsory.

I will convey my remarks by leaving to the general public as to whether or not Mr. Hicks had in view any illegitimate motive when making his application for CANTHARIDES.

Respectfully,
JAMES L. SCOTT.
McDaniels Ark., June 5, 1888

State Convention.

Hon. J. P. Eagle, of Lonoke,
Our Next Governor.

[For the accommodation of our readers who are cut of the reach of the daily press, we reprint the closing proceedings of our State convention, clipped from the Democrat of Tuesday.]

Pending roll call on the 118th ballot the convention adjourned at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, to meet at 8 o'clock last night. Half an hour after the adjournment the rumor became current that Hon. Wm. M. Fishback would withdraw sometime during the evening. It was quite evident when the convention was called to order that an important event was about to transpire, and when it was announced that the secretary would read a communication the crowd held its breath in expectancy. The following was then read to the convention:

To the President and members of the Democratic Convention of the State of Arkansas:

GENTLEMEN—This is a crucial year in the history of democratic institutions. For the first time in nearly half a century we have a president who has had the courage to enter a political contest upon an issue that involves the very life of free government. So divided are the people of this country in their views upon this great issue, no power of human can foresee the result of the coming presidential contest. This long and bitter contest over mere men, any one of whom would make a good governor, can only serve to engender a spirit of faction in our ranks, emasculate our energies and lessen our majorities, thus discouraging our friends in doubtful States that need and ought to have whatever help we can tender to them.

Accordingly, although my first and second choices combined give me greater strength, if only exerted, than any other candidate, and although I am satisfied that I am the choice of the majority of the people of Arkansas, yet I will not consent to continue a struggle so disastrous to the public good.

Nor will I be a party to the outrage upon the people of the State involved in an attempt to manufacture a governor under the name of a "dark horse," who has not been before the people to afford them an opportunity of expressing their wishes as to his nomination.

Therefore, in the interest of harmony, in the interest of democracy, in the interest of the more portentous contest of the ensuing autumn, I hereby respectfully, but unconditionally withdraw my name from before your honorable body as a candidate.

To those friends who have given me their support in accordance with the wishes of their constituents, I extend my sincere thanks.

The convention then gave three hearty cheers for Fishback.

The 118th ballot showed several material changes viz: Hughes 180, Fletcher 139, Eagle 107, Rector 27.

On the one hundred and twentieth ballot Hughes received 182 votes, Fletcher, 153; Eagle, 104; Rector, 27. This time the Hughes crowd went up one long and continued shout which seemed to lift the rafters of the building. They evidently anticipated a general stampede on the next round, but it did not materialize.

The one hundred and twenty third ballot stood: Hughes, 179 1-2; Fletcher, 126; Eagle, 123 1-2; Rector, 24.

On the 124th ballot, Ashley county changed two votes from Fletcher to Eagle. Conway changed seven votes from Rector to Fletcher and then the Fletcher crowd proceeded to exert their lungs and feet. Faulkner county changed one vote from Fletcher to Eagle. Sebastian county changed one vote from Rector to Fletcher.

The ballot resulted: Hughes 179 1-2, Fletcher 131, Eagle 126 1-2, Rector 10.

On the next ballot Cleveland county voted 2 votes for Fishback. Crawford county cast her vote: Hughes 8, Eagle 3. The result was: Hughes 178 1-2, Eagle 125 1-2, Fletcher 129 1-2, Rector 16, Fishback 4.

At this juncture a delegate from Saline got the floor and moved an adjournment till 8:30 o'clock this morning. The vote was taken and the delegates of the gallery friends of the Hughes faction voted it down, but a division was called which resulted in an adjournment.

MORNING SESSION.

By 8 o'clock this morning the delegates began to file into the building. The delegates were excited and the ladies in the balcony caught the spirit and seemed to understand that something of grave interest was about to transpire. It was ten minutes after the convention opened, and the first order of business called the roll of counties.

Hon. John M. Harrell then sent the following communication to the secretary and asked that it be read:

To the President and Gentlemen, Delegates of the Democratic State Convention now in session at Little Rock:

Having in the recent canvass presented my claims to the democratic party for a nomination to the office of governor of State, I have so far been sustained by my friends until the assembled delegates have completed the one hundred and twenty-fifth ballot, so far attaining no result, but on the contrary, enhancing the perplexities of the situation, and I, in neither ballot, having received such support as would, under ordinary circumstances justify a hope of ultimate success, and, being unwilling to offer a factious opposition to the attainment of an ultimatum by the convention, I, therefore, in obedience to what seems to be the wishes of the people expressed at the primaries, withdraw my name from the list of those seeking a nomination for the office of governor of the state of Arkansas, with an assurance made doubly sure, that I will support with zeal and to the best of my ability, whosoever this convention, in its patriotic wisdom, may see fit to nominate.

To the gallant little band of ardent supporters who have followed my fortunes undimmed to the verge of defeat, I express my warmest gratitude, and for the future I dedicate my life and sacred honor to their service, leaving them in their future action, as they have been in the past—without the hope of reward or the fear of punishment—to cast their votes as the dictates of an unswayed patriotism may dictate.

With that unwavering devotion to the principles of the democratic party, to which I have always given my support, I remain,

Yours most respectfully,

E. W. RECTOR.

On the 126th ballot, when Calhoun county, which had voted all the while for Fletcher, was reached on the roll, it voted for Eagle, and then began a scene which is unparalleled in the history of Arkansas politics. The Eagle men raised a yell which made the very walls ring. The chairman pointed with all his might on his table, but the excited crowd would not heed the gavel and did not desist until it was fairly exhausted.

Garland county went to Hughes and his faction fairly made the building tremble. Faulkner county went to Eagle, and as the roll proceeded it became evident that he was fast gaining on Hughes. At each gain the Eagle men sent up a long continued shout, which was heartily joined by the Fletcher faction. Ladies in the gallery, who had been on hand from the very moment of the convention, met this morning with bouquets and floral tributes, intended for Gov. Hughes, began to look scared. Delegates on the lower floor began to work backwards and forwards like a disturbed hive of bees, and the scene presented was perfectly indescribable.

When the last county was called, not less than two dozen delegates sprang to the floor and addressed the chair.

Hon. J. M. Hudson, of Jefferson county, was recognized and changed one vote of Jefferson from Hughes to Eagle. The applause was uproarious. Perry county changed from Hughes to Eagle, Lawrence changed from Hughes to Eagle, Ashley changed from

THOMAS W. BAIRD,

Successor to BAIRD & BRIGHT, Agent for

AMES ENGINES AND BOILERS, --- EAGLE COTTON GINS!

BRENNAN & CO.'S SAWMILLS,

THE VICTOR HAY PRESS.

THE ONLY GENUINE BRADFORD CORN AND WHEAT MILLS,
COTTON PRESSES, JONES SCALES, SHINGLE MACHINES, Steam Pumps, Hay Presses, Stalk Cutters, Mowers and Reapers, Corner Second and Louisiana Streets, Little Rock, Ark.
J. T. BACON, TRAVELING MANAGER.

Children Cry FOR PITCHER'S Castoria

Centaur Liniment is the most wonderful Pain-Curer
the world has ever known.

A Woman's Discovery.
"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its claws upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz." Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby N. C. Get a free trial bottle at C. F. Hinton's Drug Store.

The Verdict Unanimous.
W. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of Rheumatism of 10 years standing. Abraham Hare, Druggist, Belleville, Ohio, writes: 'The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my 20 years' experience, is Electric Bitters.' Thousands of others have borne the testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at C. F. Hinton's Drug Store."

An Important Announcement.
New York, May 5, 1888.
Gentlemen: I feel in duty bound to you, as well as to all sufferers by rheumatism, to write you my experience with this terrible disease, and the use of Swift's Specific, hoping that these words will be beneficial to those who suffer as I did.

About six weeks ago, while at business, I was suddenly attacked with excruciating pains in my feet, knees and hands. So severe the attack that I took my bed immediately, and in two or three days my joints were swollen to almost double their natural size, and sleep was driven from me. After suffering the most excruciating pain for a week, using liniments and various other remedies, a friend who sympathized with my helpless condition said to me: "Why don't you get Swift's Specific and use it? I will guarantee a cure, and if it does not the medicine shall cost you nothing."

I at once secured the S. S. S. and after using it the first day, had a quiet night and refreshing sleep. In a week I was able to get up, and in three weeks I could sit up and walk about the room, and after using six bottles I was out and able to go to business. Since then I have been suffering from no ailment, and I will cheerfully answer all inquiries relative thereto, either in person or by mail.

THOMAS MARKILLIE,
11 W. 18th street, New York City.
Treatise on Blood and Skin Diseases mailed free.
THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Drawer 3 Atlanta Ga.

Look at my face and my hands—not a dimple.

Such you saw there some time ago. See my fresh cheeks, and I'm getting a dimple.

I don't look at all like I used to, I know.

My face was all blotches—complexion like tallow.

No wonder they thought me and called me a fright.

No one need have pimples and skin gray and sallow.

If she'll take what I took, ev'ry morn, noon, and night.

I asked the delighted young woman what she referred to, and she answered, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is the best beautifier in the world, because it purifies the blood, and pure blood gives good health, and good health is always beautiful.

$300 reward offered for an incurable case by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

Its Use For Kidneys.
JESSE GAY, May 28, 1887.

I have been suffering from kidney disease for a month past, and the pain in my back was very severe. My occupation requires a good deal of writing at night and I suffered all the time. I saw one man who said he was cured by Botanic Blood Balm, (B. B. B.) and I commenced using it, and the pain is a great deal less. I have only used two bottles and believe it will effect a cure by the use of a few more bottles. Yours respectfully,
J. E. COLEMAN.

Public Examination.
Notice is hereby given that there will be a public examination of white teachers at the public school house in Forrest City on Wednesday, June 20, 1888.

It is desired that all licensed teachers as well as applicants, attend.
S. M. BLALOCK,
County Examiner.

Blackie's Arnica salve.
The best salve in the world for cuts, bruises, sores, ulcers, salt rheum, fever sores, tetter, chapped hands, chilblains, corns and all skin eruptions, and positively cures piles, or no pay required. It is guaranteed to give perfect satisfaction, or money refunded. Price 25 cents per box. For sale by C. F. Hinton.

When to stop Advertising.
When every man has become so thoroughly a creature of habit he will certainly buy this year where he bought last year.

When younger and fresher and spunkier concerns in your line come starting up and using the newspapers in telling the people how much better they can do for them than you can.

Notice to Stockholders.
Notice is hereby given that the second annual meeting of the stock holders of the Bank of eastern Arkansas will be held in the bank building on Thursday June 14th 1888, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 o'clock p. m., to elect a board of directors for the ensuing year. A full attendance is desired.
CHAS. H. SANDERS, Cashier.
May 22d, 1888.

The following from a Ledger correspondent is just about as near facts as one might desire to find "Twelve years ago the democracy found this state ruined and plundered by republican misrule, a treasury with $48 in it, and a debt of $15,000,000 contracted, and without credit. The democracy has paid $10,000,000 of the debt; built one of the finest insane asylums in the United States; built a deaf mute institute; built a college for the blind; created a healthy and thriving free school system; and now has in the treasury over $250,000, and all this done in twelve or thirteen years. Yet the democracy is playing the devil generally, but the people protest it to some extent, broken-down republican office-seekers.—Nashville News.

H. W. WINTHROP

STILL ON TOP, WITH A FULL LINE OF Fine Cigars, Tobaccos, Red-Hot Cider, Cider Cocktails, Hard and Sweet Cider, Lemonades and all kinds of Summer Drinks.
Royal Champagne Cider, Aromatic Ginger Ale, English Club Soda, Birch Beer, Buffalo Head, Lemon Soda and Soda Waters.

WINES:

Port, Sherry, Supperwine, Catawba, Blackberry, Malah, and other kinds.

Assessor's Notice.
Notice is hereby given that I will be, in person or by deputy, at the following places and times, for the purpose of assessing the personal property of St. Francis County, Arkansas, for the year 1888, to-wit:

Wheatley township, at Wheatley, June 5, 4, 7.
Goodwin township, at Goodwin, June 8, 9.
Prairie township, at Palestine, June 11, 12.
L'Angeville township, at Bible Union Church, June 13, 14.
Tillco township, at Caldwell store, June 15.
Tillco township, at Colt Station, June 16, 18.
Johnson township, at Mrs. Vital Lesca's store, June 19.
Johnson township, at Littlemore school-house, June 20, 21.
Frank's township, at Milbrook, June 22, 23.
Frank's